'Intentional, malicious' actions charged

Spiliotopoulos files suit against county

PLEASANTON — Following up on a pledge made six months ago when he was turned out of the county's Santa Rita jail, George Spiliotopoulos yesterday filed suit against Alameda County, its sheriff, Tom Houchins, 20 unnamed Does and the Insurance Company of North America.

The suit does not list a dollar amount, but the county planning commissioner and former Pleasanton Mayor Pro Tem filed a $500,000 claim against the county last November. The claim was denied routinely.

Spiliotopoulos asks for general, punitive, exemplary and special damages in yestereday's filing, and lists five causes of action.

The suit alleges 10 deputy sheriffs "did without provocation assault, batter and strike" Spiliotopoulos when he was brought to Santa Rita following his arrest last July by the California Highway Patrol on charges of reckless driving.

It claims he was "placed in great fear for his life and physical well being," and "suffered bodily injury, pain, discomfort and became sick, sore, lame and ill."

Spiliotopoulos was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital following his release and treated for cuts and bruises and given a tetanus shot.

The suit charges the deputies with an "unprovoked attack" and alleges their actions were "intentional and malicious, wanton and willful."

Houchins is charged with negligence in overseeing the alleged "incompetence, unfitness, brutal, savage and malicious nature" of his deputies in the July 28 incident.

Spiliotopoulos is asking for general damages from the Insurance Company of North America over a bond they issued for Houchins. The amount of the bond is listed as "unknown."

The suit also claims deputies knew Spiliotopoulos needed medical attention, but that they "failed to take reasonable action" to provide it.

In a press conference held yesterday on the porch of his famed Cheese Factory, Spiliotopoulos and attorney Charles McCrory denied the planning commissioner was asking for "preferential treatment."

"This has happened to other businessmen and other citizens," McCrory charged, adding he would go after depositions from both Houchins and his deputies.

"As a middle-class citizen, I'd heard this happened before, but it was always to someone else who I probably thought should have been in jail to begin with," said Spiliotopoulos.

"I'm convinced now that human treatment is of the essence. Perhaps if more people were realistic they'd be more concerned."

"As far as Santa Rita is concerned, it's a problem," he said when asked if he believed the problem wide spread. "It has happened before my situation, and it has happened after it."

Houchins was unavailable for comment yesterday, but in a three-page press release handed out after a month long investigation he defended his deputies as using "only reasonable and necessary force" in handling the county planning commissioner.

The sheriff claimed Spiliotopoulos was affected by "some alcohol and great emotional stress" that night, and that "this entire situation was alien to him and contrary to his normal life style."

Spiliotopoulos passed a field sobriety test administered by the CHP at the time of his arrest. In November a jury found him guilty of reckless driving in the incident that preceded his arrest. The former mayor pro tem was convicted of speeding through the scene of an injury accident in Castro Valley.

He was not charged with resisting arrest at Santa Rita.

The suit may make Houchins' complete investigative report available to the public. The sheriff steadfastly has refused to release the body of his report, claiming the investigation is an "internal report" into alleged misconduct by a deputy, not an examination of charges and countercharges between Spiliotopoulos and the department.

McCrory said he believes the suit could come to trial within a year. It depends on the court calender, availability of witnesses and cooperation by the county's legal staff.

Teachers' honor

'WHO' is Dick Waldron

PLEASANTON — Dick Waldron, industrial arts teacher at Pleasanton Middle School, is this year's recipient of the We Honor Ours (WHO) Award, presented annually by the Amador Valley Teachers Association (AVTA) in conjunction with the California Teachers Association.

The award will be presented at a special awards luncheon to be attended by educators from both Alameda and Contra Costa counties on Saturday, Feb. 7 at the Elegant Ranch restaurant in Hayward.

The award is a means of saying "thank you on behalf of the teaching profession" to chapter leaders who have contributed to the profession on the chapter level and a means to encourage the recipients to continue to serve the profession through their chapters.

A graduate of the University of California at Davis and an ordained elder in the Presbyterian Church, Waldron began his career as a high school teacher in Ripon and Chowchilla.

Waldron started at Pleasanton Elementary, where he has been the past 10 years, when there were only three elementary schools in Pleasanton, and with John Lanto, last year's WHO award recipient currently at Harvest Park Middle School.

Attending the luncheon with Waldron will be his wife, Virginia, teachers' aide at Amador Valley High School, Tom Zach, AVTA president, who will present the award, Ron Alsup, principal at Pleasanton, and AVTA officers Buzz Valente, Fay Alsup, Phyllis Lynn and AVTA past president Mary Eveleth.

The Waldrons live in Pleasanton, have two sons and daughters, and include in their interests family activities and traveling. The Waldron family's biggest journey was an 11,000-mile camping trip across the United States two summers ago.

Waldron is a current AVTA director, former AVTA faculty rep and served several years as certificated employees council member and CEC joint chairman.

School tax increases analyzed in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — Should both tax revenue measures scheduled by the Amador and Pleasanton school districts in June pass, owners of $40,000 market value homes in Pleasanton could pay an additional $69.52 a year the first year.

Pleasanton Joint School District trustees last night reviewed data, and the basis for it, that will appear on the lengthy ballot measure June 8.

Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business, told board members that, after analyzing basic data with the county, the district would need to increase taxes 44.70 cents (per $100 assessed valuation) the first year.

Extensive maintenance costs, salaries and the district share of rental of storage facilities at Parks are items cited as the reason for the tax revenue limit increase.

Noting that statewide assessed valuation of school districts will now be the criteria, instead of the Bay Area Consumer Price Index, Rose said that six assumptions were made in determining the amount needed to eliminated 1976-77 study budget deficit and provide for a 2 per cent reserve of $132,086.

Statewide assessed valuation is expected to increase 7 per cent.

In other business Wednesday, trustee Guy Clark expressed philosophical reservations concerning the Open Education style of learning.

He concludes that most students don't benefit as much academically in open education as they do in traditional, closed classroom style. He also concluded that students in open education have higher anxiety levels.

P Street opens Friday

LIVERMORE — After being closed to through traffic for more than one and a halfyears, P Street between Chestnut Street and Railroad Avenue is scheduled to open Friday morning.

Officials will celebrate the occasion with a post-opening ceremony Friday at 3 p.m.

N. Livermore Avenue, which also has been closed for the same length of time, is expected to open following the weekend and that occasion could occur Monday morning.

Both streets were closed as part of the railroad relocation project.

County calendar notes:

Fairgrounds offer shelter for Christian school

The Pleasanton Assembly of Christian Education School has relocated in the cafeteria building at the Alameda County Fairgrounds.

Originally planned to open in mid-January at the Pleasanton Assembly of God facility in Happy Valley, just south of downtown Pleasanton, school director Sanford Weldon ran into housing problems and had to seek quarters elsewhere. Weldon is also minister of education for the Pleasanton Assembly of God.

According to the Fairgrounds administration, Weldon and approximately 30 children of elementary and intermediate school age are conducting classes in the cafeteria Monday through Friday.

The school will have access to the cafeteria building through June. Classes are held from approximately 8:30 in the morning to 3:30 in the afternoon. The children are permitted to take recreational breaks in the areas immediately around the cafeteria.

Weldon had previously indicated the intention to eventually conduct a Christian school serving students in grades 2-8 on property now occupied by the church.

The school's use of the cafeteria is noted in the County Fair Association's calendar of events for February.

The calendar is highlighted by the annual Pleasanton Lions Club Crab Feed Saturday.

East Bay DeMolay chapter members have a dance reception scheduled Saturday at the Fairgrounds, also.

The Alisal Masonic Lodge has scheduled a crab feed Saturday, Feb. 14.

Other events this month include Camino Corvettes autocross this Sunday, California Auction Sales' horse auction and sale Sunday, Feb. 15, Continental Sports Car Club autocross the same day, Sports Car Autocross Team event on Monday, Feb. 16, Alameda County Cowbelles dinner dance Saturday, Feb. 21, Cub Scout Pack No. 911 blue and gold dinner Tuesday, Feb. 24, Boy Scouts Pinewood Derby Saturday, Feb. 28 and the Eden Colts' youth horse group meeting the same day.

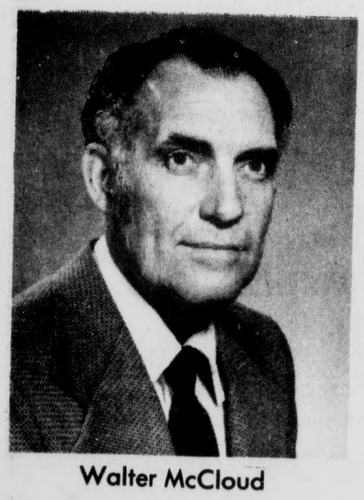
The Bay Area Horseless Carriage swap meet is slated for Sunday, Feb. 28.

Tri-Valley Royalaires Drum and Bugle Corps meets for practices throughout the month.

City safety director answers critics

"The taxpayers deserve a day's work for a day's pay, and it's my job to make certain they get both."

Walter McCloud uses that phrase often as he hammers out his views on the operation of fire and police services within the City of Pleasanton. As possibly the first "Director of Public Safety" within the East Bay, McCloud has a unique challenge. He also has a pain in the neck right now, from being twisted this way and that in the new hassle involving Pleasanton Firefighters, Union Local 1974.



Walter McCloud

In a long and detailed interview with The Times, McCloud recalled "some of the history of the Firefighters' complaints," and he made it clear the going may get a little rougher before it can get better, now that he is the city's fulltime administrator of both the fire and police departments.

'The fire department had problems'

"I am not a fire chief, and don't pretend to be," McCloud makes clear. He recalls how he was "pressured into taking on this job" 13 months ago, when Fire Chief John Frudden suddenly vacated that post. That was 15 days before McCloud was to leave with his family on a month's vacation in Mexico ... "something we had been planning for a year." The vacation vanished when City Manager Wm. Edgar laid the total burden of public safety on the shoulders of Pleasanton's veteran police chief.

It was because "the fire department's organizational structure had problems" and because "it was my job to build that organization, not to fight fires" that McCloud instituted some drastic changes. The first was to abolish the 54-hour duty week as it applied to administrative personnel.

"It was impossible to establish any chain of responsibility when you had one captain on duty, who was then off for two or three days, and then another captain on duty, and so on," McCloud explains. He named three captains who would each work a 40-hour week, but who are "available" at all times in the event of a major fire. Lieutenants are in charge of engine companies that respond to first alarms.

"But when I named those captains, I also got the city council to give us three firefighters who weren't on the budget. There was no loss whatsoever in our firefighting ability," McCloud asserts.

The real issue, the new Public Safety Director maintains, is "to get maximum use out of our fire and police personnel, without diminishing the capability of either department." That is the key to his job, he argues, and "it has nothing to do with merging the two departments. We do not have and nor are we heading toward the 'Sunnyvale system'," McCloud states.

Pleasanton's plan is patterned after the Milpitas system. Police and fire departments functioning separately, with their own line of command, but all coordinated by one Public Safety Director.

The key to that operation is training, McCloud says.

"If a police officer responds to a call for assistance, and discovers there is also a fire involved in that emergency, I don't want him busting out a window and making that fire worse. I also want him to know how to handle a fire extinguisher, for his own good."

There are burglary responses where "police officers have had to scale drain pipes to reach the roof of the building. If we could summon a ladder, and some fire personnel assistance in setting that ladder, it could save us a serious injury."

'Get maximum use of all our personnel'

Calls involving an injured person are now the basic responsibility of the fire department, "because they are better trained to handle injured people," McCloud says. "But there are calls where both police and fire personnel respond, and I want them all qualified to aid injured people, and to assist each other wherever possible."

The goal, the Public Safety Director argues, is to "serve the people of Pleasanton with everything we have, just as fast as we can."

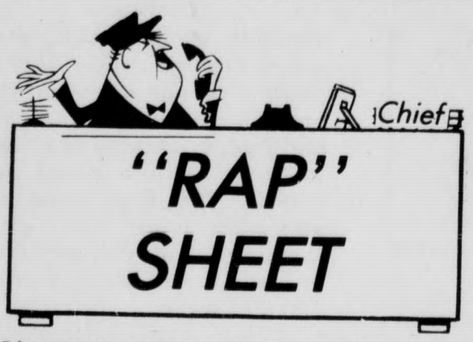
Of the 459 injury accidents experienced in the city last year, "several resulted in the police car having to rush an injured person to the hospital ... because the ambulance was delayed, or because there were more injuries than one ambulance could handle."

McCloud wants an emergency vehicle that would operate out of Fire Station No. 1, but that would include "a gurney, a ladder capable of reaching the second floor, searchlights and the resuscitator."

That emergency vehicle would also carry "special police equipment" that is now kept in the station. It is perhaps this all-purpose vehicle which has prompted some critics to charge that "McCloud is trying to make cops out of firefighters, and firemen out of cops."

But the Public Safety Director calls that charge "foolish" while acknowledging that "all of our personnel have to be prepared to serve the people, any way we can."

In a follow-up article tomorrow, McCloud sets forth some statistics to back his case. - by John Edmands



Livermore youths arrested after high speed chase

LIVERMORE — Two Livermore youths were arrested after a high speed chase Tuesday during which the pair reportedly tried to run pursuing police off the road.

Officer Charles Bell observed a red Alpha Romeo grinding gears on Las Positas near Curlew. Bell ran a check on the car and discovered it was reported stolen.

A traffic stop was made near the Livermore Airport, but as the driver got out, his companion called him back. As Bell was 20 feet from the car, the driver jumped back in and sped away.

A 15-mile chase began, with Bell overtaking the stolen car on two occasions but pushed back when the Alpha tried to run him off the road. Speeds of up to 80 mph were reached as the chase sped past the Valley campus on Collier Canyon Road.

The suspects threw items out of the car as the chase continued, but Bell made mental notes of their location to enable him to find them later.

The youths drove into a fence near Highland and escaped on foot. Bell pulled in seconds later but saw no sign of the suspects.

Officers from the Sheriff's Dept. joined in the search and located a man who claimed to be jogging but was not wearing a running outfit, nor was he out of breath or sweating. The youth fit the description as the stolen car's passenger and was arrested.

Bell recovered tools and a flashlight thrown from the car during the chase. The name of a man whose son is a known associate of the first suspect was inscribed on the discarded flashlight.

The second suspect was later picked up at Livermore High School. Both youths were booked on suspicion of assault on a police officer with a deadly weapon.

Charles Mohr of Murrieta Boulevard had reported the car stolen earlier in the day. The car had been broken into and hot-wired, police reported.

Men posing as workers steal purse containing $245

LIVERMORE — Three men posing as roof repairmen talked their way into a South Front Road residence and stole a purse containing $245 Tuesday.

Gladys Mae Fryendal told Sheriff's Dept. deputies that she returned home about 7 p.m. Tuesday and saw two men standing on her roof. A third man approached her and asked if her house needed roof sealant applied. She replied no, and went inside her trailer home.

The man then knocked on the door and told her that the men had already started the work and requested payment. She gave the men $12, and they entered her home "lookinq for leaks."

They left a short time later, saying they had work to do on other trailers. Two hours later, she discovered her purse containing $245 missing and called the Sheriff's Dept.

Nearby residents told Sheriff's Deputies that no roof repair work had been done to any of their trailers. Police have detailed descriptions of the suspects and a second witness who can identify them.

Valuables worth $2,600 taken from Pleasanton home

PLEASANTON — Burglars broke into a Saginaw Circle home early Tuesday and stole approximately $2,600 worth of silverware, clothes, stereo equipment and a color television.

Terry Stephen Lagorio told police he returned home about noon Tuesday and discovered the burglary. Officers at the scene said a faulty door lock was the probable point of entry.

Burglars ransacked the entire house and took a 12-piece silverware setting, two men's leather jackets, a Sanyo 15" color television set, and a Sansui stereo system.

No latent fingerprints were found and police have no leads in the case.

Air force secretary former valley man

PLEASANTON — There is always a local angle and the new Secretary of the Air Force, Thomas C. Reed, is no exception.

Reed lived on Golf Road in Castlewood between 1959 and 1962 while he was an experimental physicist at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory where he worked in the weapons division.

His relationship with the Lab lasted until 1967 on a consulting basis. After his sojourn in the valley, he established his own firm, Super Con Industries, Inc., in Houston where he manufactured super conductors.

Reed sold that firm in 1965, returned to California and most recently was involved in a recreational land development firm based in San Rafael.

Reed worked on the Goldwater for President campaign in 1964 and was northern California chairman for Reagan for Governor in 1966. He and his wife, Leslie, have three children, Carolyn, Gordon and Andrew.

He was sworn in as Secretary of the Air Force Jan. 2. His new job means quite a promotion for him., He served in the Air Force from 1956 to 1959, leaving the service with the rank of First Lieutenant.

Restoration plans needed

LIVERMORE — Interested citizens are invited to present their opinions on plans to restore the five - acre Buckley estate in Ravenswood at a special meeting called by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD) for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at 71 Trevarno Road.

The meeting will deal with the potential uses of the main house, bedroom house, tank house, carriage house and the grounds.

The city has received $187,000 from the state earmarked for the restoration of the 1890 estate.

Cooper, Euler clash over LAVWA terms

There can be no cooperation between valley agencies and the Alameda County Board of Supervisors on air quality and population growth until the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agencx agrees to submit plans to the county for approval, or until LAVWA amends its agreement to give the County a voting membership.

Those conditions were set forth by Board of Supervisors chairman Fred F. Cooper in a Jan. 29 letter to Valley Communtiy Services Director Lila Euler.

Cooper's letter came in response to a request from the Pleasanton Joint Sewer Committee that the County and valley agencies work together to regulate development in the valley.

The Jan. 29 letter is the latest in a series of written exchanges between Cooper and Euler, on behalf of the joint committee. The debate began with a joint committee request last October that the County Board do more to limit growth in the valley and improve air quality.

"What needs to be done most to obtain cooperation in the valley," wrote Cooper, "is for the two cities and VCSD to reverse past attitude that cooperation in the valley means that the three Valley agencies cooperate by planning for the County without participation by the County and without giving the County any say in the policies of the two cities."

"Cooper's arrogance and hostility makes it difficult to respond to constructively," Euler said.

She called Cooper's conditions for cooperation "unrealistic and almost combative."

"I would be happy to exchange statistics with Mr. Cooper, but he is defensive and has totally missed the point," said Euler. "We wrote to set up a meeting to work together with the county."

Cooper disputed the joint committee's assertion that fifty to seventy-five per cent of the valley's air pollution is locally generated.

"I am still presently inclined to feel that major population changes in the valley will not make substantial differences in air pollution," said Cooper. But he noted he has asked the Metropolitan Transportation Commission and the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to run tests on their models to see whether the pollution is generated outside or inside the valley.

Rejecting this approach, Euler said, "After receiving the information we sent him on several studies showing the majority of pollution is locally generated, Cooper proposes another study. If the new study doesn't support him, I suppose he will ask for yet another study."

Euler said the Pleasanton - VCSD Joint Sewer Committee would meet later this month to prepare a detailed response to the issues raised by Cooper's letter.

Cooper also took the city of Livermore to task on whether it was entitled to continue its policy of ignoring the majority and ignoring cooperation whenever it feels so constrained" while the rest of the county was required to abide by majority rule.

He referred to Livermore's support for an 8-lane freeway within its city and later the expansion of 580 even though a majority of the agencies it involved were supporting expansion of 580."

CAMPAIGN 76

No on override

LIVERMORE — City council candidate Rich Buckely has stated he prefers to see the voters withhold approval of the special 25-cent public safety tax override measure to make the council "bite the bullet and start to get its house in order."

Buckely's comments are contained in his response to questions asked by the Livermore Fire Fighters Union. All candidates are being interviewed by the fire fighters but while the rest consented to personal interviews, Buckely answered their questions in written form.

In answering the question asking for his views on the tax override issue, Buckely suggested "a few bold decisions on future budget trimming and hiring priorities" rather than a tax override.

A list of "a few golden idols that could stand some trimming" suggested by Buckley are mini park budgets, airport subsidies, golf course ownership and maintenance, city hall staff size, planning commission pay, city council pay, and the proposed additional industrial recruiter.

"Let's take a close look and see if we can not squeeze tighter and shift $100,000 and more out of these programs into other areas. Then set top priorities to hiring future staff that meet public safety requirements after requirements are re-established by the new council," Buckley recommended.

He also stated he favors an elected mayor and is opposed to binding arbitration for public safety personnel and other city employes.

Public safety personnel who strike should be summarily fired, he added.

"The responsibility to confirm wage and benefit settlements must rest with the council or under the council's right to review and approve," he noted.

Finch — overpass

PLEASANTON — "The man who says, it can't be done had better watch out — he probably will get run over by someone doing it," according to city council candidate Gene Finch.

Finch applied the motto to his position on the West Las Positas Boulevard overpass issue. He believes its construction "can and will be done by the people of Pleasanton."

Citizens "are in favor of a bond issue to provide this vital traffic artery," said Finch. "The savings in time, energy and money by having West Las Positas completed are of inestimable value to the entire town. Fire trucks, school buses and shoppers need and deserve an easy route to and from all areas of Pleasanton," said Finch.

The citizens' attitudes are best seen in a little poem about "the man who, when faced with the job which couldn't be done, simply rolled up his sleeves, tackled the job, and did it," said the candidate.

Jordan—revenue

PLEASANTON — The city does not have a realistic financial plan, according to council candidate Jim Jordan.

"The financing of the city has been left to chance the last four years and the taxpayers have been generous to a fault to let it happen for so long," said Jordan.

The city staff pushed hard for redevelopment because it "would have given the city a short-range boost in revenue since the usual sources have slowed down," said Jordan. But redevelopment is dead and Jordan wonders "how the city will meet the financial crisis."

"Where is the plan," asks Jordan.

He accused the city staff of operating with a "dangerously low reserve fund" in the budget and said that "you don't need economists to tell you are on a collision course when you budget to spend more than you take in".

"You don't need an economist or consultant to tell you that your priorities need rearranging," said Jordan.

Mercer—industry

PLEASANTON — Council candidate Ken Mercer announced his position on attracting new industry yesterday.

"First we must determine what kind of industry we want in Pleasanton. I feel we should find out immediately what satellite industries exist in other communities that deal with Kaiser Research and the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. If there are some possibilities there, they would appear to be a good logical beginning," said Mercer. If Mercer is elected, he would have the city's finance director prepare an economic impact report about how much money any particular industrial client would bring to the city in the form of taxes, jobs and services.

The city should be prepared to waive some connection fees or spread their payment over a number of years "so that we can make it economically feasible for them to move here," said Mercer.

Whether the city's taxpayers benefit from the industry in the long run should be the deciding influence in whether to invite industry to Pleasanton "and make it more advantageous for them to locate here," he said.

"Citizens can benefit from a larger commercial-industrial tax base and if we only look at the immediate climate, we may be short-changing ourselves 10 years down the road," he concluded.

Firefighters question city council candidates

LIVERMORE — What alternatives, such as binding arbitration and striking, should be available if labor management negotiations reach an impasse?

That's one of the questions being directed at all eight city council candidates and it's the Livermore Fire Fighters Association that wants to know.

A committee of three association members, headed by fire fighter Ron Schaffler, is interviewing the council candidates on their views in an effort to find candidates the union can back.

The interview committee, after meeting personally (in most cases) with the candidates, will evaluate their stands and report back to the 40-member union for the purpose of endorsements.

Such a procedure, explained Schaffler, is in the union's "best interests" since members can find out how much the candidates know about relevant city operations and at the same time make their own views heard on such topics as labor management, negotiations, and public safety.

The queries asked of the candidates question why they want to be a member of the council, what qualifications they have, what their background is, where they are employed and for how long, and why they think they'll win.

Candidates also are asked how they plan to finance their campaign, how much time they have to offer the city, whether they think the mayor should be elected or selected, and whether they'll have an open door policy.

Also asked is what the candidate's idea of a fireman's job is, what alternatives should be available if labor management negotiations reach an impasse, where they want the city to go and how are they going to get it there, and what their views are on the tax override issue.

Candidates also are asked what better ways they can think of to utilize tax dollars, such as mini-parks, consultants, golf courses, and subsidized public transportation.

Alisal kids go airborne

PLEASANTON — Kindergarteners at Alisal School have their eyes collectively focused on "the grinning bird" — the symbol of PSA, a major coastal commercial air carrier.

On Tuesday, Feb. 10, 25 students in Ellen Lathlean's class will journey to the Oakland Airport where they'll board a PSA jet for a short flight to the San Jose Airport. At San Jose they'll tour airport facilities and then return home in cars provided by parents.

Mardelle Totah's kindergarten class of 21 students will board the "grinning bird" for the special flight from Oakland to San Jose on Tuesday, Feb. 17, completing the day with a visit of airport facilities at San Jose.

Mrs. Lathlean's class currently has a display of their art posted in the board room at the District Educational Center, 123 Main St.

Susan Hahn memorial award

DUBLIN— A spirit award in the memory of Susan Hahn, killed in an auto accident last month, has been established by her parents and students at Dublin High School.

Miss Hahn was a pom pon girl and active in student spirit activities during her four years at the school.

The award will be presented for the first time at June graduation ceremonies. It will be awarded to a student or faculty member best exemplifying spirit and support for school activities.

Other schools close

Murray open Feb. 13

The Murray School District will be the lone valley district in session on Friday, Feb. 13 but city offices in Livermore and Pleasanton and the Valley Community Services District offices will also do "business as usual" on that date.

Students and all school personnel in the Amador, Pleasanton, Livermore and San Ramon districts are off from Thursday, Feb. 12 through Monday, Feb. 16. Murray will have the 12th, the day designated as Lincoln's Birthday, and the 16th, designated as Washington's Birthday, off.

Murray's decision to remain in session on Feb. 13 came after a closed personnel session, prompted by at least three requests from employee and parent groups for that day off.

Charles Valente, president of the Murray chapter of California School Employees Association, requested the district make it a five-day holiday. The bid for no school on the 13th was also made in a letter from the Fallon School PTA and staff members at Lydiksen School.

The latter group cited what they feel will be "a heavy loss in average daily attendance (ADA)" caused by parents going on long weekend outings and taking their children. Lydiksen also claimed that Murray is the only district in Alameda County not to declare Friday, Feb. 13 a holiday.

Restaurant boom in Valley

Maybe it's not a restaurant explosion, but the number of eating houses has grown considerably in the Livermore-Amador-San Ramon valley during the past year and the growth has not stopped by any means.

While Frank Ivaldi at Sunol is opening the Pavilion Room at the Sunol Valley Golf Course for luncheon and breakfast, two more restaurants, both with a French accent, are planned for the Pleasanton area.

Add these to the Hungry Hunter, the Carnation Ice Cream restaurant, the Bumbleberry in Dublin, The Station in Livermore and a couple of hotel dining rooms and it begins to look like an explosion.

Furthermore all of these places seem to be doing well.

Ivaldi plans to open the Pavilion Room at 7:30 a.m from Monday through Friday serving standard lunch and breakfast dishes in the spacious and well windowed area which overlooks the ninth greens of both the Cypress and Palm courses and reveals some of the prettiest scenery this side of Yosemite Valley.

The opening is part of the continuing renaissance at Sunol which is staging a strong recovery after severe setbacks a couple of years ago.

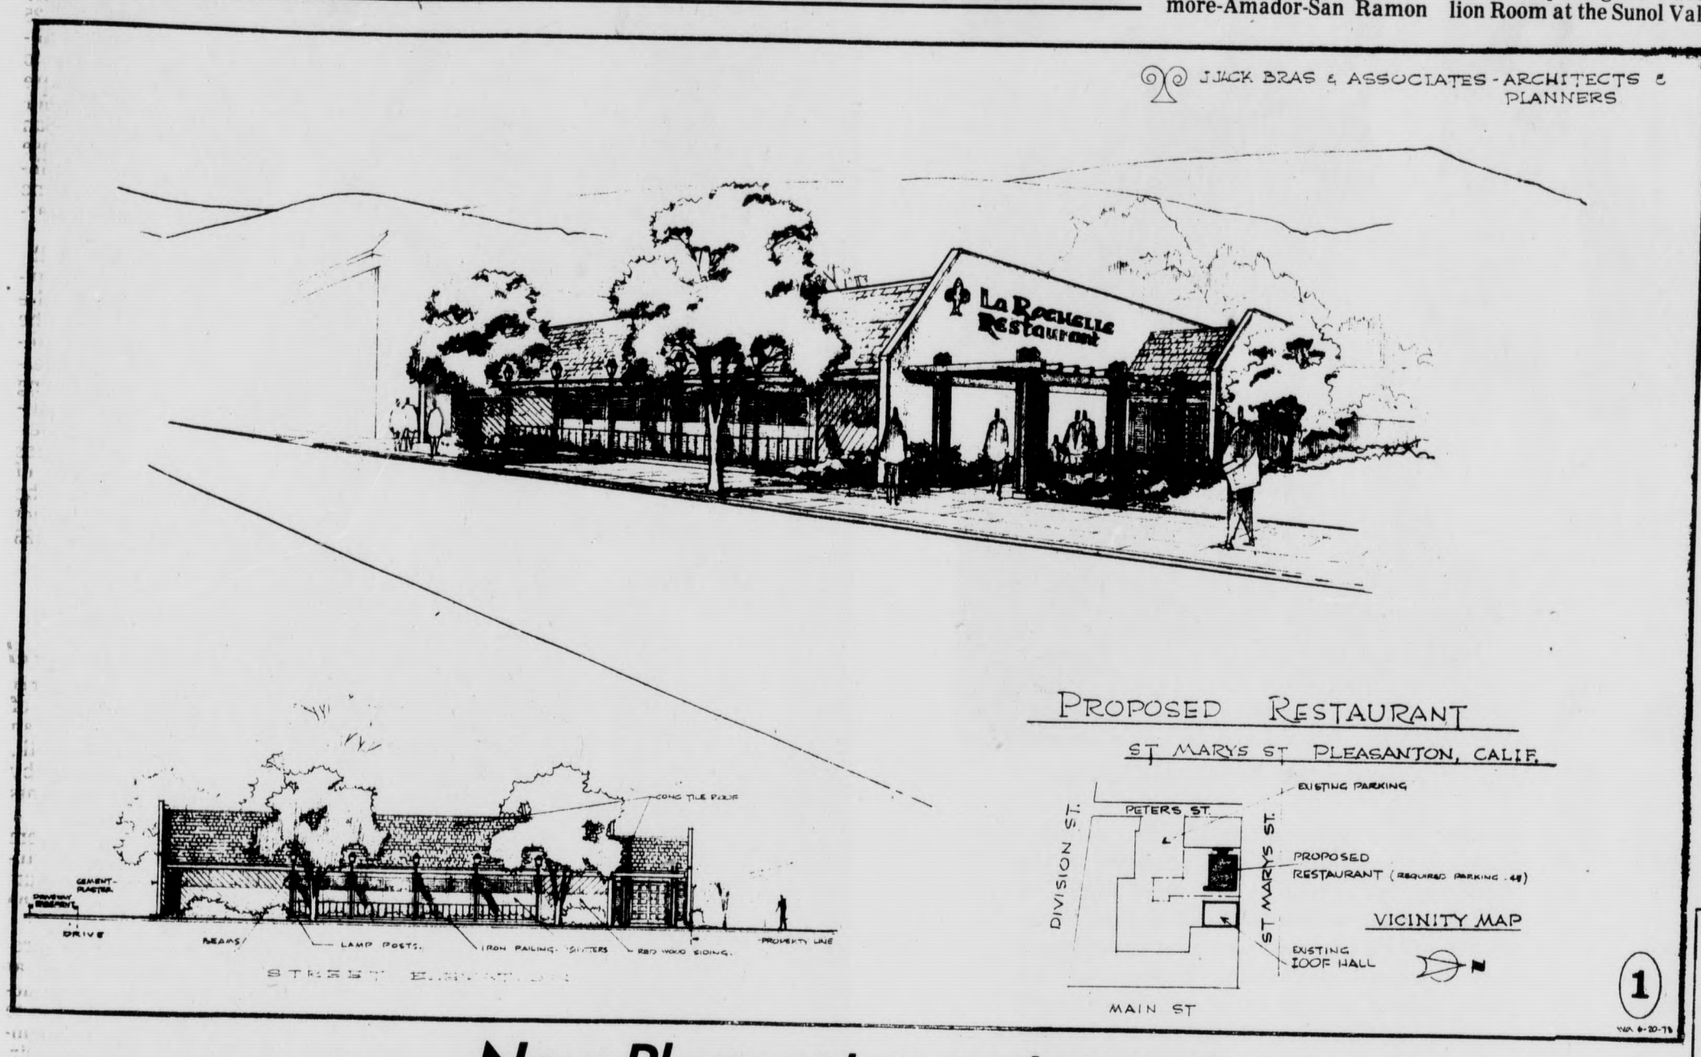
On Santa Rita Road Marchands plans to open a restaurant with a continental theme on Valentine's Day.

The February 14th opening at 2225 Santa Rita Road in Pleasanton will offer a limited, but mouth watering, menu including roast duckling, tornedoes, lambshanks in minted brown sauce, frog legs provencale and veal scallopini au Marsala.

A pair of Pleasanton families, Bob and Bobbie Reynolds and Betty and Dick Petersen are the owners and operators of the new venture.

They hope to add a little class to eating in the valley.

Meanwhile just off Main Street next to the Cellar Liquors in Pleasanton a spectacular structure is being constructed by three partners, John Ciarabillini, Jerry Bindi and Luigi Bruno.



New Pleasanton restaurant

Work is underway on a new restaurant and cocktail lounge, La Rochelle, which is being constructed on St. Mary Street, following recent groundbreaking ceremonies. This is the architect's sketch of the facility which will feature French and Italian cuisine and freshly baked pastries. Co-owners are Gloria and Jerry Bindi and Luigi Bruno and John Ciarabelli. La Rochelle is designed to accommodate 90 patrons and is scheduled to open in late summer.

Sign of the times

The historic Pleasanton Hotel has taken on a new look on Pleasanton's Main Street. Because of the increasing emphasis on saving energy and other economic considerations, three of the hotel's four signs have been removed. Shown loading the fixtures on a truck are, from left, Ted Johnson and George Domich of Federal Sign & Signal.

Quiet elegance at Newell House

Mahogany. Pewterware. Oil burning lamps with a quiet glow. A special blend of coffee and soups next to none.

The Newell House, one of Contra Costa County's landmark restaurants, is quiet elegance and the promise of gourmet delights.

Stephen Schwerin and his wife Susan head a new management which has restored the original simple elegance created by Don and Ruth Thompson who opened the Newell House many years ago.

"One of the few things we added are room dividers to make the large dining room more intimate. Our restoration was intended to create a bright, clean, casually elegant place to dine," revealed Schwerin.

Free Young People's Concert sounds Sunday

Two young musicians, one from Pleasanton and one from Livermore, will star in the free Young People's Concert hosted by the Livermore-Amador Symphony Sunday, Feb. 8 under the direction of Dr. Arthur Barnes.

Geared to a youthful audience, the concert combines informal commentary on selections played, American composers, jazz, marches and classical music — a lively and varied introduction to the art. Two identical concerts are slated, the first at 3 p.m. at St. Augustines Church in Pleasanton, the second at 7:30 p.m. at Livermore High School Auditorium.

Amador High Senior Nick DiScala (pictured above) swings into the solo spotlight in the 'Concerto for Clarinet' by Artie Shaw, a flashy number with a touch of Boogie Woogie. He will be accompanied by a ensemble of April Lillegard and Cathy Evanson at the piano, Mark Kaufman at the drums, and Patty Leach on rhythm bass. Flip side of the concert features Karen Sanderson of Granada High School on solo violin in the Bach Concerto No. 2 in E Major.

'Smack' role written for Valley's Tom McNallen

By RON McNicoll

"An Evening with Tom McNallen" may as well be the title of the current production of "Smack," a new play by Drury Pifer at the Way Station 99 in Berkeley.

Tom McNallen is the stage name of a former valley actor who changed his name for personal reasons, but his friends know who he is. And thosd of us who spent entertaining evenings in his home, listening to his exploits as a Shakespearean actor in the Good Auld Days, will recognize that this role in "Smack" was written just for him. I had many deju vu's during the performance. Other roles also were written for the cast leads. Angela Paton, a premiere American Conservatory Theatre actress, is fine as the Jewish momma — ex-burlesque queen with a good range of comic talents Debra Sussel turns in a good performance as an estranged daughter-in-law who tries to separate miserly Tom from $10,000 to finance a big - return - on - your - money heroin deal.

Debra is not a hardened criminal — she is just doing a favor for a passing heroin connection who wandered into her San Francisco antique shop — and the deal goes awry into a comedy of errors. There is more, including two gay policemen, and in general the play kids with various artsy - liberal - middle class Bay Area lifestyles. I give it a B minus or C plus rating.

Just one more note: jazz afficianados will be interested to know that Teddy Wilson is scheduled to play at the Back Bach Dynamite and Dancing Society in Half Moon Bay Sunday. Sorry I don't know the time or fee, I don't know the club's real name and therefore can't phone for information. Just drive to Half Moon Bay, ask directions at a gas station, and bring plenty of money.

Up the Upanishads

EDITOR'S NOTE: Times Reporter Ron McNicoll of Livermore, America's newest published poet, will autograph copies of his book, "Sail Away, Silvery Moon," at the Book Haven on South J Street Feb. 12 at 8 p.m. The book sells for $1 and is published by Holmgangers Press of Alamo. McNicoll is billing the event "Lincoln Up with Poetry."

"I have spent much of my life hitchiking through the Upanishads," said Ron McNicoll.

The nubile young poet, looking radiant in his grey Campus workshirt and light blue Cheap Jeans, took time out from a hard day at the typewriter, popped a soy bean in his mouth and talked about his coming media event.

"It's a whole new art form, affixing my signature to a book," said McNicoll. "I guess it means I'm a success."

Things weren't always rosy for this Child of the Depression. Born in Omaha in 1938, he knew hard times. He went to first grade at three different schools and hasn't been the same since. "I think that was when my alienation started," he said.

"Sure, there were good days. I'd feel really fine after confession, just clean as a whistle. And communion, wow, what rapture. But then I discovered girls and I haven't been happy since."

McNicoll says his poems basically try to recapture that lost innocence before he met girls.

"Captain Marvel was an early influence in my life," he says. "I kept standing around saying 'Shazam', waiting for the lightning to strike. But you know, it never did," he said.

Other early influences on his writing include his 1949 Plymouth, purchased in college. "I wrote a caption for it — "Don't laugh, it's paid for."

A spinoff of that was his starring role in "Shadows of Forgotten Ancestors."

"I played the bale of hay, the one that became a horse and then a cement factory. It wasn't easy, but my yoga exercises relaxed me enough so I could get into all three roles in the proper sequence," said McNicoll. "At any rate, that should give you some of the flavor of my poems."

"As for my future, it looks good. I'm working on a new trick, parting San Francisco Bay. Once I have it perfected, I'll make a million dollars with my own toll road, just by buying up the right properties. After all, isn't that the American Dream?"

Though a bit out of the realm of stage and screen, we have a vested interest in presenting an early preview of the "Country Fair," scheduled Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16, at the Amador Valley Community Park in Pleasanton.

The event is being staged by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Festival Committee in association with the Pleasanton Art League.

For the multitude of art and craft lovers in the valley, the weekend is a "must."

In addition to the regular displays, there'll be many special features such as puppet shows and a series of "Bicentennial town criers." The latter project is being undertaken by this writer. Object is to involve a dozen or more youngsters from Pleasanton schools in "proclaiming" the news of the day in olden-day town crier fashion ... periodically throughout the two-day run of the Country Fair.

We will be enlisting the aid of English, speech and drama teachers from such schools as Harvest Park, Pleasanton, Amador, Donlon, Foothill, Valley View and Alisal to help in selecting those students who'll present the news of various periods of the Nation's history — from 1776 to present day.

Ideas on the subject from area teachers would be appreciated — call 462-4160.

More as promised on what Hollywood will be sending your way in the next 10 months ...

Audrey Hepburn returns to the screen after eight years. She and Sean Connery play the title roles in "Robin and Marian," an updating of the Robin Hood legend.

For those who enjoyed World War II, Universal has recreated the turning-point battle in "Midway," with Charlton Heston, Henry Fonda, Toshiro Mifune, Robert Mitchum and Glenn Ford.

Sequels will continue to abound. Besides "That's Entertainment, Too," we'll have "The Pink Panther Strikes Again," "The Exorcist Part II — The Heretic," and two versions of "King Kong."

Coming out about Easter-time will be George Cukor's "The Blue Bird," made in Russia under less than favorable circumstances.

MARQUEE — The San Ramon Valley Unified School District's orchestra festival will be hosted tomorrow night at California High at 8 ... Jazz ensembles from Cal and San Ramon High Schools participate in the California Music Educators jazz festival on Saturday at Diablo Valley College.

Innovative art demonstration

Bob Nash, well-known Bay Area watercolorist, will demonstrate an innovation in painting technique at the Feb. 10 meeting of The Valley Artists. The guild convenes at 7:30 p.m. at the Fredericksen Elementary School in Dublin and welcomes the public to its meetings. Nash's latest discovery is the result of experimentation over the past several years, combining watercolors and acrylics in one painting. He will use a landscape as the basic subject Tuesday evening. Highly regarded for his portraiture and landscape painting, Nash is also well-known in art circles for his participation as a teacher in the Jade Fon annual workshops at Asilimar. He is presently vice-president of the Society of Western Artists. Above, Nash's work entitled 'The Photographer' is exhibited at the Frye Museum in Seattle, Wash.

No set of teaching hands would be complete without one designed to show how to count the defender's distribution in order to make finessing easier.

North counts his 21 points three or four times to make sure he isn't the victim of some new mathematical disease and then bids seven notrump.

South looks over dummy and sees that he has to pick up the queen of diamonds to make the grand slam. His first thought is to lead his jack of diamonds at trick two and play East for the queen if West fails to cover. Second thought tells him to postpone the diamond play until he can get some sort of count on the enemy distribution.

So he cashes the top clubs and West discards a spade on the third club. He goes after hearts next and again West has to discard on the third one.

Now South cashes a second spade and East follows. Twelve of East's cards have been accounted for and none of those 12 are diamonds. South plays his king of diamonds and East follows. South knows East does not hold another diamond so South finesses with absolute certainty.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know who invented the 4-3-2-1 point count.

The answer is that the late Bryant McCampbell of St. Louis wrote his friend Milton Work back in 1915 and suggested its use for notrump bidding. Work taught it for years and it became known as the Work count.

Charles Goren adapted it to all bidding and while he has never taken credit for inventing it, we want to give him credit for its great success. Everyone uses it today.

Mike Zampa

During times of emotional upheaval we can all use counselling, whether it be a pyschiatrist, marriage specialist or priest.

But for those deeply traumatic experiences, when it seems body and soul are leaving town on different trains, many turn to the same pillar of faith, wisdom and comfort, the golf pro. Teaching professionals are the only ones capable of easing the jitters, gloom and ulcers induced by a hook or slice.

Of all professional advice givers, golf teachers contribute most to mental health. They save untold millions from double-bogey depression and shank paranoia, and rescue scores of high handicappers who otherwise would jump in the lake after their lost Titleists.

Men and women have learned to cope with other threats to emotional stability, like munnane jobs and nuclear annhilation, but they are unglued by a 97 at the local muni. Topped shots and three-putts haunt their sleep, make them indifferent to friends and family and surly to fellow employes.

Only the golf pro can sooth the anxiety and frustration.

TY CAPLIN

But how does the duffer who's at wits end find adequate counselling? Where does he turn when it seems every club in his bag is a potential enemy? How does he stay out of the clutches of quacks who suggest a closed stance, open grip croquet swing on all putts over 100 yards.?

In Dublin, Livermore and Pleasanton there are various healers for sick golfers, all accredited, all with files full of case histories successfully concluded.

Head teaching professionals include Steve Smith at San Ramon National Golf Course, Castlewood's Ty Caplin, Dave Juarez of Pleasanton Fairways, and Dan Lippstreu at Las Positas. In addition, Gar Witherspoon conducts a golf school at Pleasanton Fairways.

Rates vary slightly among the teaching professionals in the area. Programs are basically the same, with group lessons or private ones available. Instruction follows a basic pattern, breaking down the components of a golf swing, instructing in the finesse skills such as chipping and putting, plus basic orientation of golf course rules.

Some professionals employ stop-action cameras to pinpoint success and failure.

If you're just taking up the game there are various means of selecting a golf guidance counselor. You can throw a dart at the Yellow Pages or simply call the pro with the easiest to remember phone number.

A more reliable method would be a survey of aquaintences who play the game. Find out where they received instruction, and if it was worthwhile.

A call to the Northern California Professional Golfer's Association (835-5259) can get you a list of all qualified instructors in the region.

Failing all else, look for golf courses with large memberships and a large clientel.

There a couple of precautions to take, most pros agree, when selecting a teacher. First, they say, go to a P.G.A. certified instructor, because they have been through a course of training "If a person goes to a P.G.A. pro, he knows he's in the ball park," says Smith.

Secondly, they claim, be wary of instructors who slash prices drastically. "It's like going to a doctor," says Lippstreu. "If you're going to have a major operation, you don't go look for the cheapest doctor. If they try to price cut, they're not qualified."

Once a teacher is selected, determine a suitable lesson program. Beginners may prefer group lessons, because they are cheaper, and because they serve as a good introduction for players still leary of golf.

Witherspoon's golf school is conducted in groups of four or more, and covers up to 18 lessons

Private lessons are available for beginners through other professionals. Most offer a series of six, with prices ranging from $40 to $50. After the six, golfers should be ready to play.

"If they aren't, then I haven't done my job," says Juarez.

Private lessons are not inexpensive. Lippstreu offers one-half hour of instruction for $8. Smith charges $8.50, Juarez, $9, and Caplin, $10. Lessons at Castlewood run 45 minutes Caplin and Lippstreu employ cameras in their instruction.

None promise miracles, or even sub-90 scores, after the instruction.

"If a golfer tells me he wants to be a certain type of player, I can get him what he wants," says Caplin. "But he's got to be willing to practice, and stay on a program of lessons."

"All you can do is try to get them to reach their potential," Smith claims "It all depends on how much they want to work."

"There are no promises you can make," Juarez adds. "You can't expect anything if you don't follow lessons with play and practice.

"You can't make somebody a 70's shooter or an 80's shooter," Lippstreu claims. "We just make them as good a golfer as we can."

Hopefully it's enough to keep distraught souls from leaping out of high-speed golf carts.

Dons beat Pokes

Stop me if you have heard this before but Amador Valley High is bound for another EBAL basketball championship.

The Dons went two games up on the rest of the league last night, defeating Livermore at home, 60-50. They have only one game remaining with any of the pe-season favorites for the league title.

By losing, Livermore fell into a second-place tie with Granada.

Amador rushed to an 11-2 spurt at the start of the fourth quarter to break open a tight contest.

Mike Hill scored 17 points for the Dons. Rob Yackley had 16 and Dave Van Norden scored 10.

Livermore's Ted Wood pumped in 22.

Advanced billing predicted a duel between the two senior guards, Hill and Wood.

Both players read their clippings.

Hill dismembered a zone defense by scoring 10 points in the first quarter for Amador. Wood came back with 10 in the second quarter and at half time drew Livermore within a point at 25-24.

The Dons, behind Hill and Rob Yackley, pressed to a 7 point lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 8 with less than three minutes remaining in the half.

The Cowboys roared back just before intermission and actually took a 24-23 lead on a Wood jumper with 22 seconds to play.

Mats top SR

Capitalizing on every break that came their way Granada High rolled to their four consecutive straight victory, a 65-46 victory over visiting San Ramon last night in EBAL basketball play.

The win improves Granada's EBAL record to 6-2 as the Matadors held on to their chances of winning the league title. Lee Brannen scored 22 points, enjoying his finest game of the season for the Matadors. The Wolves were led by Fritz Venker who canned 21 points in a losing cause.

The Matadors, fresh off a convincing win over Dublin Friday night, entered the first quarter as cold as the 40 degree weather outside.

Surviving some questionable calls by the referee the Matadors opened up a 16-11 first quarter lead on the strength of Joey Wujek's nine points.

The Wolves made a run at the Matadors in the second quarter when Wujek picked up his third foul just one minute into the period but Lee Brennan picked up the scoring slack, scoring 16 points in the half and vaulting Granada into an overwelming 42-24 halftime advantage.

San Ramon shot terribly in the first half, converting just nine of 31 field goals attempts for a timid 29 percent shooting percentage. Granada, behind Brennan's performance and Mike Fracisco's hot shooting, fared much better in converting 16 of 33 attempts for a 48 percent output. The Matadors scored 26 points in the second quarter to all but erase the Wolves' hopes of coming back.

Gaels take Cal

Struggling through an unsturdy schedule in which they have yet to win on their new hardwood, the young California Grizzlies opened the second stage of the EBAL last night, dropping a 70-55 decision to Dublin.

By virture of the win, Dublin moved to 3-5, and is faced with the unique task of four upcoming road games. Cal, meanwhile, dropped to 2-6.

The Grizzlies, however, made a gutty comeback in the third period but fell short.

It was a team effort for Dublin. Cliff Johnson led the Gaels with 33 points, 10 in the fourth quarter. Byron Steward had 11 to pace California.

This EBAL dual had all the prep color. Both teams passed with flair and both clubs drove the lane with ease.

As a result, Cal and Dublin virtually felt one another out before saving the real content until the latter half.

Like any other prep cage game learning something new each game, both squads did not make that many mistakes, obtaining success all-around.

Amador girls win

A fired-up Amador girls basketball team traveled to Livermore High School Tuesday night and pulled off a staggering 57-25 upset to drop the Pokes into a three-way tie for second place with the Dons and Granada. Monte Vista, now in sole possession of thd top spot, recorded a 58-26 win over Foothill to up its record to 7-1.

Livermore, hampered by the restricted playing of ailing starter Peggy Baker, could find the bucket just twice in the first quarter as Ann Wondolowski and Patty Shirley put in a field goal apiece.

Meanwhile, Amador took advantage of the lagging Cowboy defense as center Jayne Kuhns and Jamie Watson pumped in a bucket apiece while Debbie Oxsen, high scorer for the Dons with 19, added a field goal and a free throw.

Oxsen, warming up in the second quarter, poured in three buckets, while teammates Cheryl Withoft and Kuhns added a pair. Macon chipped in a free throw, enroute to an outstanding nine for 11 performances, to give Amador a 16 point margin at the half.

MV defeats Falcons

Riding the crest of a destructive first half spree, the Monte Vista Mustangs dropped visiting Foothill, 81-45 last night in EBAL basketball action.

The Falcons' Steve Sperber led the game in scoring with 24 points while Ron Low had 15 for the hosts. Steve Lykins had 13 rebounds for the Mustangs and the vistors' Keith Suer had nine.

It would have been hard to imagine a more lobsided first quarter.

After Sperber tied the score at 2-2 with one of four first-half baskets, the Mustangs ran off 36 straight points.

Things got a bit better for Foothill in the second quarter, as they managed 15 points.

With just under six minutes to go, Mustang coach Gary Yates cleared his bench in the manner of a certain winner, removing the players from the floor one by one to allow them individual ovations.

But the sudden influx of second-line players was of little value to Foothill. Ken Kray, in particular, sparkled for the Monte Vista subs, scoring on a pair of impressive drives.

Elsewhere in EBAL contests, Monte Vista downed a hustling Foothill team, 58-26.

The Falcons fell behind in the second quarter as the Mustangs' hot-handed threesome of Linda Silva, Calol Dolsby and Laura Fumagalli poured in a total of ten points. Foothill's only point of the quarter came from a free throw by Chris Echavia.

Joanne Callender threaded her way through a sagging California High defense for nine buckets and hit six free throws to lead Dublin's attack against the Grizzlies. The 49-33 win puts Dublin in third place with a 4-4 record.

Granada found itself in trouble as San Ramon mustered a final quarter rally, outscoring the Mats 10-3, but held on to nip the Wolves, 29-24.

"AGAINST THE GREAT WHITE SHARK, GEAR IS CRITICAL. TIMING IS LIFE." T. Walker Lloyd
Veteran diver and underwater photographer T. Walker Lloyd has matched nerve and skill against Australia's White Death. Stalking that lord of inner space has given him a heightened sense of timing, of need for gear that cannot fail. His watch is the Rolex Submariner, an impregnable chronometer in 18kt. gold, pressure-proof to over 100 fathoms (1680/9290). Also in stainless steel (1680/9315). In the awesome world of the Great White, among the 4th Century wrecks of the Aegean, or saturated at 100 feet off Puerto Rico, dependability for T. Walker is everything.

Pfefer joins VMH staff

SAN RAMON — Lionel M. Pfefer, M.D. has joined the staff of the Family Medical Center of Valley Memorial Hospital as full-time physician.

A specialist in internal medicine, Dr. Pfefer moved his Pleasanton practice to the center Monday. He will continue his hospital practice at VMH and provide continuity of care for patients of the Center requiring hospitalization.

A member of the VMH medical staff since 1972, Dr. Pfefer had a practice in internal medicine for 20 years before coming to Pleasanton three and a half years ago.

A graduate of the University of California Medical School, he served his internship and residency at Highland Hospital, Oakland.

West Wind ride program

PLEASANTON — Teens who wish to attend West Wind Youth Center functions on Saturday night but have a problem getting there from the Foothill area may phone for rides beginning Feb.7.

One of the center's recreation leaders will drive a city van to three designated areas to pick up the teens. The locations are the front faculty parking lot of Foothill High School at 7:15 p.m., the front parking lot of Lydiksen School (Highland Oaks Drive) at 7:20 p.m. and at North Muirwood and Foothil at 7:25 p.m.

Teens will be returned to those areas between 11 p.m. and 11:20 p.m. Every effort will be made to get everyone back to where they were picked up, but the teen center will not be responsible for someone who does not obey the rules and is not in the right place at the right time.

If the program succeeds, every effort will be made to extend it to other areas of the city. For more information call 846-2240 between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. daily and 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. daily. Service will continue for two months and if participation levels are substantial, the service will continue. The program was initiated by Mike Walsh and Maryhelen Scott, the staff of the teen center.

Career day scheduled at Foothill

PLEASANTON— Foothill High School has scheduled its first Career Day for Wednesday, April 28 from 9 a.m. until noon.

Open to all Foothill students, the program being organized by Audrey Aune of the Career Center will present speakers in 66 job areas. Students will be able to attend presentations of three they have selected.

Making presentations to students will be professionals in the fields of accounting, nursing, journalism, oceanography, armed forces, law, zoology, carpentry, modeling, ambulance driver, professional athletics, food services and clerical.

A special session will deal with what an employer looks for in a job applicant.

The cost of heating your home is now the highest ever, because the price of natural gas is the highest ever.

But there are things you can do about it.

For example, if your attic isn't properly insulated, you may be wasting heat. Insulating an unfinished attic can save up to 20% of the heat you use. And make your home more comfortable as well.

Take a look at your home heating level itself. For each degree you lower your thermostat, down to 65, you can save 5% of your heat. Lowering it from 72 to 68 will save you 20%!

There are a lot of other ways you may be wasting heat, too. Is your furnace filter clean? Do you have air leaks around windows and doors that need weatherstripping? Do you keep your fireplace damper closed when you're not using it? Do you close your drapes at night to keep the heat inside?

When you save energy, you save money.

And if you want more ideas on how to save, we have a lot of booklets that tell you how. And they're yours for the asking at your local PG&E office.

PG and E
Let us help you save.
